THE KRUŠNÉ MOUNTAINS

The entire territory of the Erzgebirge (also known as Ore Mountains and, in Czech, as Krušné Hory) has an exuberant history and is a peculiar whole with vast woodland complexes and peat bogs which generate a substantive natural drinking water reservoir. In the region, there are plenty of nature trails, natural peculiarities, as well as historical landmarks and monuments, of which let's at least name a few:

National nature reserve of Boží Dar peat bog – in the reserve, there is a unique nature trail that follows wooden footpaths across an area where scarce species of plants and animals alike can be found.

Blatenský Hill and Blatenský Moat

Pastoral hut in Rýžovna – it is a chalet in which you can taste homemade sheep milk cheese and cow milk cheese. In case of nice weather, it is possible to reserve outdoor tables with a barbecue of lamb meat.

Trail of Child Jesus – this trail is first and foremost intended for children as it is filled with fairytale characters. You can take the Small or the Great Circuit which has 13 stops where the children fulfill various tasks and answer questions. After they successfully complete the trail and return, they will be greeted with a small reward for their endeavor in the information center in Boží Dar.

The history of the presently often visited chateau dates back as far as to the Renaissance era, to the second half of the 16th century. In the course of the centuries that followed, the chateau has undergone several reconstructions, through the Baroque style to its current appearance in the style of Viennese Classicism. While on a visit to the chateau, you shall be provided with the opportunity to see the Chancellor's office, chateau dining room, oriental hall with a collection of Japanese jewel boxes, armory, chateau chapel, and cabinet with rarities. Also worth mentioning is the adjacent manor park with its most peculiar monument, the sylvan Chapel of the Holy Rood, which became a sought-after place of pilgrimage.

MARIÁNSKÉ LÁZNĚ

The town of Mariánské Lázně is the most recently founded spa town of West Bohemia whose origins date back to the beginning of the 19th century. Ever since 1990, intensive endeavors have become apparent to restore the original nature of the town with regard to its historical architecture, spa parks and promenades. Mariánské Lázně has a plenty of curative mineral springs – for instance, the Rudolf Spring, Caroline Spring, Forest Spring, and many others. Perhaps no visitor leaves out the opportunity to see the Colonnade with its Singing Fountain; you can feast your eyes on its beauty while listening to the masterpieces by world famous composers such as Verdi, Nabucca, Beethoven with his Symphony No. 5 in C minor, or Mozart and his Small Serenade. Town Museum offers to its visitors a large exhibition that illustrates the history of Mariánské Lázně and of the spa industry as such. Miniature Park Bohemium – it comprises an exhibition of maquettes of significant edificial and technical landmarks in a lovely setting of a landscape park. Visitors may, for instance, take a look at a miniature of the castle in Český Krumlov, of Karlštejn Castle, of the outlook tower on Mount Ještěd, or a miniature railroad.

MONASTERY OF TEPLÁ

This Premonstratensian monastery was founded in the year 1193. A part of the premises are also a Romanesque-Gothic monastery church, a Baroque prelatore and convent, a monastery library, a monastery park, and a cemetery.

CASTLE SEEBERG

The original Romanesque castle, built at the turn of the 12th and 13th century, hides within its walls, as do most of the preserved historical monuments, an abundant and not always pleasant history. Even Seeberg Castle underwent several reconstructions as the particular architectural styles and needs of castle lords developed and changed over time. In the interiors, both Gothic and Renaissance architectonic elements were preserved.

Visitors to the castle may take a look at an ample exhibition of furniture from the 19th century (Empire Style, Biedermeier, second Rococo, neo-Gothic, neo-Renaissance, Chippendal; part of the furniture is marquetry), or eventually at a unique collection of furniture presenting the life in the Cheb countryside of the 19th century. Moreover, you can look through the black castle kitchen with its original fittings and an exhibition of contemporary Karlovy Vary porcelain and its history.

HISTORICAL CHEB

The first written mention of Cheb dates back to the year 1061. In the second half of the 15th century, Cheb attained a great deal of significance as the town became the center of princely assemblies, magnificent festivities, and diplomatic arrangements. Renaissance Cheb, then, is described as a graceful town lying in a charming valley, surrounded by a double girdle of fortification; a town with many mills, houses, churches, and chapels. In 1631, the demesne was acquired by Albrecht von Wallenstein, who was, on February 25th, 1634, assassinated while staying in the town. Cheb of today offers a lot of historical landmarks, such as the castle premises with town fortification, the Church of St. Nicholas, Špalíček (the symbol of Cheb's square), Pachelbel's House (the residence of the Regional Museum), Maria Loreto (an early-Baroque pilgrimage church), etc.

Cheb Castle – in its premises, the visitors can take a tour of the Black Tower, the Castle Chapel, or the Palace Ruins.

Museum Cheb – while on a visit to the museum, you can take a look at a large artistic-historical exhibition, the Wallenstein picture gallery, a lapidarium, etc.

CHATEAU KLÁŠTEREC

The beginning of the chateau history dates back to the time period between 1514 and 1538. After the year 1560, it became a Renaissance aristocratic manor which has burnt down several times in the course of its existence. The first time it came about was in 1639. The restoration that followed the fire instilled the castle with a Baroque appearance which endured until the next great fire broke out in the second half of the 18th century. After that, the castle was reconstructed already in the spirit of Classicism. The last considerable modification that the castle has experienced came after 1858 when it acquired the current English pseudo-Gothic image. Besides the castle itself, part of the overall premises are also the Parish Church of the Most Holy Trinity, Thuns' Tomb, a spacious park with a villa called Sala Terrena, valuable sculptures, and the chateau fountain. In the chateau, the Museum of Porcelain is located in which the visitors may see over rare collections of Japanese porcelain from the time period between the 17th and 19th century, of Meissen and Viennese porcelain, or a collection of Chinese porcelain from the 16th through the 19th century. An entire floor is devoted to the Czech porcelain from its origins up to the present day.

The history of this chateau dates back as far as to the second half of the 12th century. In the 18th century, the chateau became a property of the House of Lažanský whose indirect relatives own it up to the present day. In the course of its existence, the chateau has gone through a Renaissance, Baroque, and neo-Gothic reconstructions and even endured the unfavorable period of totalitarian regime, during which the whole premises including the lovely manor park decayed and weed grew over it. As late as since the year 1996, extensive reconstruction and renovation works had taken place, and, subsequently, the chateau interiors and an interesting sightseeing tour were successfully made accessible to the public.

An interesting fact is, without any doubt, that Chyše Chateau became home, for a brief period of time, to prominent Czech writer and playwright Karel Čapek who worked here as a private tutor to the son of the then owner of the chateau, Count Lažanský, and who let himself get inspired by the local countryside while he was writing some of his works of art.

BREWERY

The present proprietors restored the entire building, and, in June of 2006, the first brew was ceremonially introduced. You can try out the quality of the local beer while on a visit to the brewery.

DRESDEN – GERMANY

Dresden is often nicknamed Florence on the Elbe River, which is mainly due to its wonderful Baroque architecture that does not have a match in the rest of Germany. Although most of the city, including its historical center, was destroyed during the Allies' devastating bombardment in 1945, Dresden's patriots managed to achieve the impossible and thanks to their efforts we can admire perfectly repaired majestic palaces and churches or to enjoy a view of the characteristic panorama of this fourth most frequently visited German town.

Dresden displays a beautiful array of Baroque architecture that is dominated by the Zwinger chateau compound. All the city's major landmarks are situated in its not-too-large center, within walking distance. We can mention Semper Opera House, Frauenkirche, Residential Chateau, etc. The town is also known as a well-liked shopping destination that offers several shopping avenues and malls, the best-known being Prager Strasse, Altstadt, Neustadt, etc. Speaking of shopping we should not forget to remember traditional Christmas markets that have been held in Dresden regularly since 1434.

REGENSBURG – GERMANY

Another gem lying on the German side of the border is the historical town of Regensburg whose charm and unparalleled atmosphere has been enthralling the town's visitors for long centuries. Hardly anyone can resist breath taking vistas, picturesque nooks, imposing buildings and captivating historical streets and squares. Regensburg is also known as the town of towers because the territory of its Old Town boasts of 1200 historical houses – palaces that once belonged to rich patrician merchants who demonstrated their wealth by far-visible, high-reaching residential towers. The other historical sights that are worth seeing include Stone Bridge from the 12th century, Old Town Hall, Porta Pretor, St. Peter cathedral (or Dom), etc.

However, Regensburg allures visitors with much more than its history. Those who prefer modern entertainment consisting of shopping and entertainment malls will have a filled day in Regensburg. When done shopping, they can share their experiences and impressions over a cup of delicious coffee in one of numerous local cafes or restaurants.

TROPICAL ISLANDS – GERMANY

Berlin, the capital of Germany, has rich yet unfortunately disturbed history and offers a countless number of cultural and historical monuments. However, we decided to invite you to a nearby tropical paradise where you can and your family and friends can spend an afternoon full of fun, water merriment and relaxation.

The Tropical Islands is the largest tropical and wellness center in Europe. Its area of 66.000 m² takes you to the exotic environment of rainforests, sand beaches, artificial sunshine, palms, orchids, etc., all of this being accompanied with the omnipresent sounds of the tropical forest. Without having to set off for far travels you can enjoy the beauty of exotic flowers as well as of typical buildings that are otherwise seen in Bali, Borneo, Thailand or Samoa. In addition to traditional water activities such as swimming in a sea lagoon or resting on a sandy beach, you can try a number of water chutes and toboggans, saunas, fitness center or mini golf. The Island would not be complete without a shopping street offering typical souvenirs. There are numerous restaurants, cafes and beach bars. Kids can have fun in a separate children's compound.
